NEW MSR[®] COOKWARE & ACCESSORIES, SPRING 2013

MSR[®] has been making cookware as long as they've been making stoves and they're committed to offering the finest combination of materials, features and function to meet the demands of any camp kitchen or cook. In 2013 MSR offers their most compact 2-person cook system to date as well as a collection of lightweight, insulated mugs and a host of accessories that add convenience and versatility to the industry's finest cook and eat solutions.

Trail Lite Duo System

The Trail Lite Duo System is perfect for one or two people who need the lightweight space-saving benefits of a minimalist cookset, yet don't want to be Spartan about what they cook. Hard -anodized nonstick aluminum keeps the menu options open and the compact pot still fits two Insulated Mugs and DeepDish™ Bowls.

Weight: 618 g | 21.8 oz.
Packaged Size: 15.1 x 16 cm | 5.9 x 6.3 in.
Retail USD: $59.95
Release Date: January 2013

Trail Lite Coffee Press

The Trail Lite Duo Coffee Press offers go-anywhere portability for the caffeine dependent. It features a stainless steel mesh strainer that saves weight without sacrificing brew quality. The entire kit can be broken down flat for easy packing.

Retail USD: $19.95
Release Date: January 2013

Piezo lighter

Previously only available with the MSR MicroRocket™ stove, the Piezo Igniter is sold separately in 2013. The igniter's element is housed in a protective metal tube that also collects fuel vapor for more reliable ignition. Works with most canister stoves except the Reactor® Stove System.
